

KATE DAUDY

BIOGRAPHY

Kate Daudy is a British conceptual artist best known for her public interventions and large-scale sculpture. Working across a variety of media, she lives and works in London, UK, and has exhibited worldwide. Daudy has recently been appointed a fellow at Columbia University's Institute for Ideas and Imagination. This prestigious award allows poets, artists, and composers from around the world embark on their own projects and engage in a year-long dialogue with each other.
